

Asthma Screening Event

Are you wheezing, coughing or feel like you can't get enough air during sports activities? Do you awaken in the middle of the night short of breath? You may have an increasingly common lung disorder in children called asthma, or it may not be well controlled with your current asthma medication(s).

If you are having these symptoms, you are welcome to attend a special asthma screening event where you can meet Dr. Raymond Hong, a Board Certified Adult and Pediatric Allergist, a physician specialized to take care of people with asthma. We will be answering questions and offering questionnaires and breathing tests using peak flow meters to all participants. We will also be providing information about asthma and its proper management and treatment.
